Extended Lecture On "Caste In Indian Politics" On 9,12,2019 Organized by the Department of Political Science

Every year the Department of Political Science organizes a host of departmental activities among which seminar or extended lecture is a significant event. In the session 2019-20 the department organized an extended lecture on the topic: "Caste In Indian Politics." Under the CBCS curriculum the issue of caste and caste based discrimination form an important element of the paper on Indian Politics and Government which is taught to the students of semester II of the Department of Political Science. Eminent scholar Titu Bardhan, from the Department of Political Science who possesses expert knowledge on the topic was invited to deliver an extended lecture to the students on 9.12.2019 at 12.00 noon in Room no 9. The programme was inaugurated by Dr. Subrata bagchi, Associate Professor, Department of Political Science, kidderpore College, followed by a welcome address delivered by Dr. Abhijit Ganguly, Principal, Kidderpore College. Then Mr. Titu Bardhan was invited to deliver his lecture. After he finished the lecture, it was summed up by Dr. Sudakshina Sarkar Roy, Associate Professor, Department of Political Science. Finally the programme ended with a vote of thanks proposed by Prof. Iti Biswas, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science. 32 students from various departments of the Institution along with 4 teachers of the Department of Political Science attended the programme.
